ANCIENT GREEK AND ROMAN STUDIES

Bachelor of Arts

Berkeley

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

INTRODUCTION TO THE MAJOR

The Ancient Greek and Roman Studies (AGRS) major is an opportunity to explore Mediterranean antiquity in the company of a diverse cohort of undergraduates. AGRS professors are renowned for innovative scholarship and dedication to undergraduate teaching. Students explore multiple disciplines within the ancient Mediterranean world including archaeology, literature, philosophy, and many more. The major can be completed in English or include the study of Greek and/or Latin language. Students develop their own personalized program of study in close consultation with our advising team.

“ Classics [now AGRS] courses push you to explore, be creative, and interpret....Also, they have the best professors. ”

– Jake Quinn, Classics Alumnus

THE AGRS COMMUNITY

Being a part of AGRS is to be connected with a community at Berkeley and beyond:

- AGRS hosts gatherings and lectures.
- Our student club, The Classical Forum, connects students from multiple majors.
- Our advising team includes a professional advisor and two faculty advisors. Students have support in course planning, student life, career exploration, and navigating the university.
- Get to know our graduate students who lead discussion sections and teach some language courses. Learn directly about graduate education.

AMPLIFY YOUR MAJOR

- Participate in archaeological field work with an AGRS professor.
- Learn research techniques by assisting a professor through a URAP position.
- Achieve a broader perspective on AGRS through study abroad.
- Expand your knowledge of an AGRS subject by pursuing honors in the major.
- Publish your work in the Berkeley Undergraduate Journal of Classics.
